Catherine Willard has a passion for encouraging people in their musical growth, and a love for making music that touches the soul.

In addition to a BMus and an ARCT, Catherine recently completed a Master's degree, focusing on the Classical musician as a creative improviser. As well as maintaining a studio of diverse piano students, Catherine worked for several years as organist and choir director at Churches in Niagara, Vancouver, and Toronto. In 2009 she accompanied a Niagara Choir for their residency to Canterbury Cathedral.

She enjoys teaching piano to a wide range of students from age from 6 to 86. Her goal is to guide students to acquire keyboard skills that enable them to express themselves creatively through reading music and improvisational playing.

When she isn't teaching or playing, she can be found cycling, planting trees, or spending time with her husband Peter, enjoying their two adult daughters.
